Guide to installing Need For Speed Most Wanted on Ubuntu, using PlayOnLinux (Wine 1.5.30).

This video tutorial is done in Ubuntu 13.04, but it will work in Ubuntu 12.04 and 12.10 as well. It should work in the future as well, as long as PlayOnLinux is available for future Ubuntu versions. This video was requested.

Steps:

1. Install PlayOnLinux 4.1.8 or newer.
2. Install Wine 1.5.30 (or newer) into POL.
3. Download NFS MW 2005 (link below)
4. Setup Wine to use VCRun 2005, DirectX9 and VBRun6.
4. Install NFS MW 2005 inside PlayOnLinux using Wine 1.5.30.
5. Paste Uniws.exe and patches.ini into the same prefix as NFS MW.
6. Set NFS MW's in-game resolution to 640x480 and then exit.
7. Rename NFS's speed.exe to speed2.exe (this is temporary)
8. Run Uniws and patch the game using the NFSU2 preset.
9. Rename NFS's speed2.exe BACK to speed.exe
10. Run the game and enjoy!

Need For Speed Most Wanted is an old game from 2005, but it's still one of the best lan racing games out there that withstands the passing of time. You can get it working in Ubuntu using this guide. It's relatively heavy on graphics, so older systems should be able to play this as well but how well will differ depending on the system and the drivers.

I hope this video helps you get Need For Speed Most Wanted up and running on your system.

NOTE: Changing any graphical settings in the options part of the game will make the game crash. That's ok though, as the game will remember the settings on the next time it starts up.

Download PlayOnLinux for FREE here:

P.S: Sorry guys, I have to remove the link. However, a quick Google search using the following torrent name will yield the necessary results. The torrent name is:
 Need for Speed Most Wanted 1.3 (Black Edition) (2005)

NOTE: I don't condone piracy, but in this case where the game is old and the publisher is not actively

I did as you said, in the middle of the video you are logged in and you NFSMW gone, and I have everything but is just a black screen, please tell me what I have a problem?

Antworten •

Penguin Recordings vor 4 Monaten

+Евгений Величко Other users who had a black screen was because they didn't have their graphics drivers installed. If you're on AMD or Nvidia, please use the proprietary drivers. If you're on Intel, you'll need to update the Mesa graphics driver with the Oibaf PPA.

Hey it was awesome. Just a small issue: the "uniws.exe" was not able to detect my "playonlinux" drives. Any points on that one?

Will this work for Elementary OS, which is based on Ubuntu, and after I installed dx9 and the other software, will I have to install it for every new game I install, or is it enough if I install it only once?

+Penguin Recordings Do you know any way to play already installed games with PlayOnLinux?

i already have installed Skyrim in my PC and the steam does not give us the setup.exe, it only auto-installs the game without giving us any setup.exe
